Dogs

Leo dogs approach life with enthusiasm first and caution second. They are playful, confident, emotionally generous, courageous, and often deeply social. They assume everyone at the park is their friend, walks are dramatic events, and they're the center of attention. Leo dogs thrive when life feels active, expressive, and shared. What they need most is joyful engagement, freedom to explore, and humans who celebrate their spirit.

Cats

Leo cats often carry a striking confidence. They like to choose their own path, their own timing, and preferably the highest surface in the room. They dislike feeling restricted or overly managed. They usually crave recognition and emotional connection more than they let on. A Leo cat wants to feel admired, respected, and free to fully be themselves. In return, they bring charisma, playfulness, affection, and a kind of emotional brightness that fills an entire home.
